

第1回「英語で世界経済論」(金沢大学教育研究高度化ブースタープロジェクト)

The First Session of “The World Economy in English”

The World Economy Lecture Series is honored to present Professor Keiichi Ogawa (Kobe University) as a guest speaker. Professor Ogawa has abundant experience working in developing countries with international organizations. This lecture will be given in English, in order to develop students' English skills as well as promote the globalized perspective of the university. All students interested in development economics as well as others development issues are welcome.

Lecture Title

Millennium Development Goals* :
Current Situation and Some Obstacles

Dr. Keiichi Ogawa

Professor, Graduate School of International Cooperation Studies, Kobe University

Date: 6th November 2009, Friday, 13:00—14:30

Place: Building I (Human and Social Sciences) Room 201

人間社会第1講義棟 2階 201

Contents

1. Overview of Millennium Development Goals (MDGs)
2. Current progress since the initiative was introduced
3. Current challenges toward achieving the goals

Professor Ogawa has been observing the progress of MDGs since this international initiative was introduced in 2000 by the UNDP. He has extensive experience working with the World Bank, UNESCO, JICA, and JBIC.

The MDGs are eight international development goals that United Nations member states and international organizations agreed upon, in 2000, to be achieved by the year 2015*

Coming Sessions of “The World Economy in English”

4th December 2009 “Why is Africa Underdeveloped? Perspectives from Ghana and Sierra Leone”

22nd January 2010 “The Cluster based industrial development in Africa: The case of Ethiopia”

Contact: Associate Prof.T. MASAKI (School of Economics) tmasaki@kenroku.kanazawa-u.ac.jp