

Announcement of Full-Time Faculty Position
Faculty of Transdisciplinary Sciences (Social Big Data), Kanazawa University

1. Number of Positions:

One position: Professor (non-tenured), Associate Professor (non-tenured), Lecturer (non-tenured) or Assistant Professor (non-tenured)

2. Affiliation: Faculty of Transdisciplinary Sciences for Innovation

3. Field of Specialization: Social Big Data

4. Duties and Responsibilities: Our university promotes transdisciplinary research integrating humanities, sciences, and medicine within the Faculty of Transdisciplinary Sciences for Innovation. To further strengthen this transdisciplinary research, we are recruiting faculty members specializing in social systems. Applicants are expected to conduct research and education on understanding human behavior and social structures based on big data, as well as on dynamic decision-making and addressing societal challenges. Furthermore, applicants should have research achievements in one or more of the following areas: big data, social system modeling, behavior analysis, or decision-making.

(1) Class duties:

Undergraduate specialized education (College of Transdisciplinary Sciences for Innovation):

Courses related to the above fields of expertise, as well as courses required in the College of Transdisciplinary Sciences for Innovation curriculum. Our university provides transdisciplinary education integrating humanities, sciences, and medicine within the College of Transdisciplinary Sciences for Innovation, and applicants will be responsible for courses related to their field of research. For example, courses related to the above field of expertise, such as "Web and Social Trend Analysis," "Fundamentals of Mathematical Behavioral Models," or "Social Issues in the Context of Regional Revitalization," as well as other courses required by the college. The specific courses to be assigned will be decided in consultation with the applicant, taking into consideration their preferences and background.

Notes: Teaching and supervising research in graduate courses may be required. Some of the courses listed above may need to be taught in English.

(2) Non-class duties:

Student guidance, students' recruitment, admissions, job guidance, social contribution, etc.

(3) Other necessary duties deemed by the head of the department.

5. Employment Status: The employment period is initially set for 5 years. Candidates may be eligible for conversion to tenured status until the mandatory retirement age at the end of the fixed term if they meet the prescribed requirements through a reappointment review, based on their achievements during this period.

Re-appointment Performance Review Criteria

- (1) Educational activities: such as lectures, practical training, seminars, research supervision, and student guidance
- (2) Research activities: such as presentations of research papers and conferences
- (3) Research funding and contributions to the university and society

For applicants currently employed at Kanazawa University, the combined duration of the current and any subsequent terms cannot exceed 10 years, which may result in a new employment period of less than 5 years for the new term. Tenured faculty members at Kanazawa University who are hired will be considered as "transferred", without a new fixed term.

6. Qualifications and Requirements: Applicants must meet all of the following requirements

- (1) The applicant must have a doctoral degree (including those who are expected to have a doctoral degree by the time of employment) or have educational and research capabilities equivalent to a doctoral degree.
- (2) The applicant must have outstanding research achievements both domestically and internationally in their respective field and be capable of engaging in education and research activities related to the specified field after joining the position. Additionally, they should demonstrate the ability to collaborate with faculty members for transdisciplinary education and research.
- (3) Any nationality is acceptable, but the applicant should be able to give classes and provide student guidance in Japanese (it is desirable that the applicant can give classes and provide student guidance in English as well).
- (4) The applicant must be able to live in Kanazawa or the surrounding area after being appointed.

7. Application deadline: Must arrive no later than Friday, December 6, 2024.

8. Scheduled date of hire: April 1, 2025.

9. Documents for submission:

- (1) Curriculum vitae (photo attached, postal code, current address, contact information, educational background from entering university, degrees, professional experience, academic society and activities, rewards and punishments in society)
